Ensinger Opens a Location in South Korea

Sales Office and Stock Shapes Warehouse Established

Ensinger has opened a sales location in South Korea. The Ensinger Korea Ltd subsidiary, which was founded this year, is based in Ilsan near Seoul. A stock shapes warehouse is affiliated to the plastics processing company's new sales office, meaning Ensinger can now supply its South Korean customers with short lead times.

The major exporting country is one of the most important producers of semiconductor technology. Providers of medical technology and display manufacturers are additional consumers of high-performance and construction plastics. The new branch would also like to gain customers from the fields of food technology, mechanical engineering, the aviation industry, and conveyor technology.

The new location is connected by highways to Greater Seoul and the conurbations of Incheon, Ansan, Bucheon, and Hwasung. Numerous groups and medium-sized enterprises in the processing industry are concentrated here. When advising customers, the sales team, managed by General Manager Jinho Park, can rely on Ensinger Asia Holding's infrastructure in Singapore. Park is a plastics engineer who has been working in the industry for ten years. He held various posts at an international plastics manufacturing company before joining Ensinger.

Ilsan is the eighth location for the Ensinger Group in Asia. Two production plants are located in China and Malaysia. The family business also has sales branches in Japan, China, Singapore, India, and Taiwan.
